Blue Dolphin Publishing, United States, 2007. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 223 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Endorsements Through gripping stories Winnie Williams provides an insightful commentary on the plight of women in diverse settings struggling to achieve their rights in the midst of oppressive cultures. With compassion and honesty, the tales are told of women fighting for their dignity while living at the margins of life. While issues of justice and equality for women have taken a back seat in times of economic and political upheaval, Winnie Williams makes a compelling case that the time has come for persons of Christian commitment to dedicate themselves to the destruction of controlling and dominating traditions that have for too long demeaned women throughout the world. Dr. Tom Graves, President, Baptist Theological Seminary at Richmond (Virginia) Williams second book sheds a new light on the plight of women in developing countries. While her findings confirm our darkest fears about the state of women in the world, her clarity of vision and compassion inspire us, because she goes beyond the sad statistics and external, physical conditions of these women s lives: she captures their hearts and spirits. These courageous, enterprising women who battle despair, discrimination and abuse on every front have their best advocate in Williams, who calls for a global movement of love and liberation to help them. Her book is our wake-up call: it is time to come to the aid of our sisters in distress. Every woman counts - this is the message Williams book drives home, and therefore each one of us can make a difference. Beatriz F. Fernandez, Book Reviewer, University Reference Librarian, Florida International University Winnie Williams gives a well-researched and accurate snapshot of the history, landscape and culture of seven countries while skillfully...
