Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This book is the story of Mary Kay Green, J.D. (doctor of law), single mother of twin daughters Mary Kay and Elizabeth Marie, grandmother of Michael and Ms. Phelan, former elected Omaha City Council Member (1977-1981), the third woman ever elected, and life time civil rights attorney from 1977 through 2015. From 1982 through 1988, Ms. Green, a single mother, represented twenty-one year old single pregnant arts and craft instructor Crystal Chambers in her sex, race and pregnancy discrimination case against her employer the Omaha Girls Club. After firing Crystal, the Club adopted a single pregnancy negative role modeling policy that along with commission of a felony was grounds for termination. The trial judge ignored the 1978 Pregnancy Discrimination Act and held that the Girls Club could racially discriminate because of the high rate of illegitimacy in the black community surrounding the Club. On appeal to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeal, Chief Judge Donald P. Lay joined by Judge Gerald W. Heaney and Judge Theodore McMillian, the only black judge...
