Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Reconstruction of Religion: A Sociological View In previous works the author has repeatedly said: One of the greatest social needs of the present is a religion adapted to the requirements of modern life and in harmony with modern science. Since the beginning of the Great War a number of the most dispassionate and detached thinkers of our time have expressed the same general idea. Two eminent British sociologists have recently expressed themselves thus: We are compelled to the admission (one hard for the student, the man of pure or applied science), that the essential problem of life is not material, but psychical. In a word, life needs to be eupsychic; or in an older word, religious. In May, 1916, Mr. G. Lowes Dickinson said in a private conversation with the author, If I should guess, I would say that the great need of the world, just at present, is more religion. Of course, I mean religion of the right sort; of religion of a certain sort there is a plenty, but not enough of...
